GRAMPIANS HORSE RIDING

see and do

From the rush of four-wheel-driving or mountain biking, the tranquillity of fishing or hiking, there are endless natural wonders to explore.

If you're a mountain person, you'll fall in love with Mount Arapiles, traditionally known as Dyuritte. Mount Arapiles is a spectacular feature, rising sharply from the Wimmera plains to form part of the Mount Arapiles, Toon State Park. Mount Arapiles is rich in Aboriginal history and home to hundreds of native flora and fauna species, rock art, and native animals including wallabies, kangaroos and birds of prey.

If the water is calling, you've chosen the right place to visit. The Wimmera River is the largest river in the state of Victoria that doesn't flow into the ocean; instead flowing into a series of lakes including Lake Hindmarsh and Lake Albacutya. There are walking trails, swimming spots, and plenty of other ways to enjoy the river, including boating and fishing.

GET OUTDOORS IN THE WIMMERA

You could spend a lifetime exploring the majestic mountains, lakes, waterfalls, rivers and wetlands surrounding Horsham and still never scrape the surface of what Mother Nature has to offer. But with so many choices, the best time to start is now. After all, you can never have too many adventures.

MUST DO ACTIVITIES

FISHING

Standing on the shore line of Taylors Lake, cast your line and take in the soothing sound of the water lapping at the lake's edge. It doesn't take long before you reel in your first catch of the day, Redfin and Yellowbelly are popular in the area.

But Taylors Lake is just the beginning of your fishing experience in the Wimmera region. In the wetter years, Green Lake, Natimuk Lake, Rocklands and the Wimmera River are all great options and worth a visit.

HIKING

Perhaps the jewel in the region's crown when it comes to hiking is the Grampians Peaks Trail, a 160km multi-day backpacking route that winds its way across the Grampians from Mt. Zero in the north to Dunkeld in the south.

The trail rises and falls sharply, and with each step, visitors can take in ever-changing terrain; sandstone formations, boulder-strewn pathways, lush fern-filled forests, and 360-degree views that rival long-distance trails anywhere in the world.

Nights are spent under canvas in purpose-built, hike-in campsites with basic facilities (fees applicable) or in eco-friendly hiker huts (accessible only with a Licensed Tour Operator). Completing the entire trail is no easy feat, but waking up here will be a memory etched into your consciousness for a lifetime.

If hiking the entire trail isn't for you, then one, two or three-night adventures are the perfect way to experience the magnificence of the trail. For day hike options, you could try the steep ascent to Mt. Zero or try a shorter walk such as Zumsteins to MacKenzie Falls.

CAMPING

Whether you prefer the unspoiled nature of a National Park campsite, or the convenience of a caravan park with on-site facilities, you'll never be short of camping options.

Most National Park campsites in the region include basic amenities such as pit toilets, fireplaces and picnic tables. Be sure to arrive before sunset and watch the mob of friendly kangaroos feeding on the lush grass as the sun sets around you. To camp in the National Park sites you need to book through Parks Victoria.

PARKS VICTORIA

Phone: 131 963

parks.vic.gov.au/where-to-stay/camping

There are also endless caravan parks available to book along the river, lakes, and at the edge of the National Parks. Free and low-cost camping and caravanning options can also be found, which makes waking up to stunning sunrises, and falling asleep to star-studded skies, possible for everyone.

BOATING

Lovers of water activities will be right at home, with water skiing, canoeing, boat fishing, sailing and more, available all year round. There are plenty of places to go boating on the river, as well as many of the lakes in the region.

Green Lake is the most popular lake and you'll often see locals enjoying a swim in the crisp waters, windsurfing when the conditions are right, water skiing, and fishing. With toilet facilities and a picnic area, it's the perfect place to spend the day.

Taylor's Lake is a great option for boating activities. Rocklands Reservoir is renowned as the best Redfin fishing in Victoria with trout also in good supply. While many lakes are suitable for boating all year round, some, like Natimuk Lake, can run dry during summer or when there's been little rain.

see & do

4WD

From beginner-friendly trails to gnarly roads that will ensure even the hardest four-wheel-driver is impressed, the region's 4WD tracks will keep you busy for days.

The Grampians National Park self-drive route takes in some of the area's most famous sights including Zumsteins, MacKenzie Falls, Lake Wartook, Reeds and Boroka lookouts, Lake Bellfield, Roses Gap, and Mt. Zero.

The Grampians Black Range self-drive is located in the Black Range State Park adjacent to the Grampians and is home to significant Aboriginal cultural sites. It offers a unique landscape of gentle slopes, in direct contrast to the rocky outcrops of the neighbouring Grampians National Park.

To the west of Horsham you will find the Little Desert National Park, known for its self-drive 4WD routes (high clearance 4WD only). Located between Horsham and Dimboola, Little Desert, as its name suggests, has very soft, deep sand and it's therefore recommended to lower tyre pressure to 20 psi or less and to always travel with a minimum of two vehicles.

The Horsham and Grampians Visitor Information Centre has free detailed self drive touring maps available.

MOUNTAIN BIKING/CYCLING

Nothing can beat the feeling of exploring by bike. Enjoy the warm breeze on your face as you peddle along the winding cycle tracks and immerse yourself deep into the landscape.

If you choose only one trail to explore, make it the Arapiles Big Sky Bike Trail, a 33km journey to the world-famous Mt. Arapiles, a unique rock formation rising 140 metres above the Wimmera plains and home to ancient Aboriginal culture and world-class rock climbing.

Or, if you're looking for something shorter, try the Mackenzie River/Bun-nah Trail. This route is just 10.5km and meanders between Wartook Valley and Zumsteins Picnic Area, immersing riders in history with every peddle.

WATERFALLS

If you love nothing more than the roar of a waterfall, you're in the right place. The Grampians is home to Victoria's largest waterfall, MacKenzie Falls.

It flows all year round and is accessible via an easy-to-get-to viewing platform, which is also accessible to prams and wheelchairs. Or, you can descend (and ascend) the steep 260 steps to the lower falls and feel the might of MacKenzie in all its glory.

Beehive Falls is another stunning waterfall, accessed by a 2.4km undulating walk and is best visited after seasonal rain.

YANGGA DYATA - WALKING ON COUNTRY

Advisory - Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders are advised that this page contains the names and images of deceased persons.

Horsham is excited to have recently added a new stop on the popular silo art trail. The Horsham silo and flourmill site celebrates the little-known but locally significant story of a Wotjobaluk warrior's story of leadership, resilience and significant legacy. The mural was created by Australian photo realism artist Smug.

Titled Yangga Dyata which means Walking on Country, Horsham's silo art celebrates the story of Wotjobaluk warrior, Yanggendiyanuk. Yanggendiyanuk (whose name means 'his walking feet' in Wergaia language) was born in 1834 in Wotjobaluk Country in the Wimmera Region of North-Western Victoria. His life was marked by outstanding achievement and leadership but was marred by significant loss and grief. Yanggendiyanuk was celebrated for his role in finding the Cooper-Duff children in the 'Lost in the Bush' story and for his part in the first Indigenous cricket tour to England. Tied together with the adjacent flour mill image of Yanggendiyanuk's totem the Black Cockatoo the images portray the strong linkage to country that the region has.

Horsham Rural City Council commissioned Juddy Roller street art company to engage world renowned street artist 'Smug' to transform Horsham's silo and flour mill as a tribute to Yanggendiyanuk.

Smug said: "I was very excited to be asked to paint the silo and work with Aunty Jennifer and BGLC, HRCC and the Plazzer family. I am truly honoured to be chosen to celebrate Yanggendiyanuk with such a large and prominent mural. I hadn't painted a full figure for many years so I welcomed the challenge of painting a composition outside of my comfort zone. My hometown is as close to Horsham as you can get in size and similarities, and its name Nowra even translates to "Black Cockatoo", so I felt incredibly at home throughout the installation of the mural."

Traditional Owner Aunty Jennifer Beer, Cultural Consultant for the project said: "This painting has only just scratched the surface of the history of Yanggendiyanuk and his life. The mural has blown me away! It's a legacy my children will get to know, and my grandchildren, as well as our community generations. For myself, I only got to know about him when I was in Grade 3 and I was reading a reader to my grandfather and he told me the story of my ancestors. There are many community families that are tied to the Lost in the Bush and First 11 cricketers, this mural will help the stories to be told.”

The Yangga Dyata artwork is a collaboration between Horsham Rural City Council, Barengi Gadgin Land Council, owners of the silo Mario and Frances Plazzer and Juddy Roller.

NATI FRINJ BIENNALE

Every two years in October, the small town of Natimuk, just 20 minutes' drive from Horsham, transforms into a bustling mecca for art lovers and culture seekers.

Thousands of visitors from across Victoria and beyond flood to this unassuming town of just 500 residents for a long weekend of inspiring artwork and fearless creativity.

The event showcases local and national artists alongside a busy program of music, visual and performing arts, food and drink events, and—according to festival director Greg Pritchard—plenty of dancing. This year's main feature is called Bamboo Exquisite, three bamboo structures which will host a variety of performances.

This year it's set to be bigger and better than ever. "We have a real spirit of play and experimentation which makes it different to most regional arts festivals," said Greg. "Everyone at the Frinj has a smile on their face."

THAT LITTLE SHOPPEE PLACE

Imagine a shop-come-restaurant that takes all the best things in the world and combines them—that's Little Shoppee Place. Gourmet pizza, pasta, coffee and ice cream, all handmade from raw, locally-sourced ingredients, and sold with a smile.

Husband and wife team, Melissa and Dorian Doti, launched the business two years ago. Since then it's gone from strength to strength, capitalising on the deep connections Horsham has with the local farming community.

"When Melissa and I met, we spoke about how we could showcase the wheat belt," said Dorian. "We realised one of the best things we had was the durum wheat, which is perfect for pasta. I remember asking, 'how many jobs can we create from one bag of wheat?'"

From that simple question, the idea for Little Shoppee Place was born. It now offers a mouth-watering menu of homemade pasta, coffee ground from beans roasted on-site, gourmet pizza crafted from fresh hand-stretched dough, and hand-made ice cream from local milk. Our recommendations? The lamb pizza is followed by a holy fudge ice cream.

That Little Shoppee Place offers dog-friendly outdoor seating, indoor seating for up to 20 people, and private catering. They have a partnership with a local winery, Barangaroo Boutique Wines, and supply The Exchange Hotel.

THE BULL & MOUTH

When Simon and Deborah Mitchell took over the Bull & Mouth, they originally planned to stay for two years before selling it and moving on. Thirteen years later and they're still here.

"Even Horsham didn't realise how good Horsham is," said Simon. "Now everyone is realising—there's so much to do here with great food and drink, the silo art trail, and rock climbing at Arapiles."

Since the husband and wife duo took over the pub, they've added a brand new kitchen and redone the decor. Expect a lively and welcoming atmosphere, and a menu full of pub favourites.

Their best-sellers are the succulent lamb fillet on a bed of mashed potato, and the delicious prawn linguine. "You come here for the consistency," said Simon. "You know you're going to get good food."

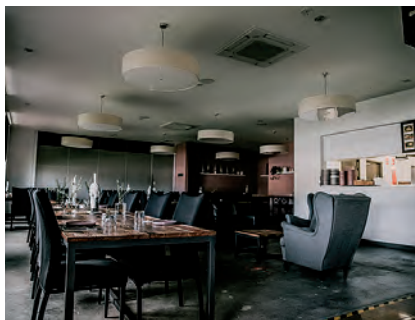

With a large beer garden, a friendly team of staff famous for their banter with the locals, a menu packed with classic pub meals, and a large selection of beers and wines, it's no wonder you need to book ahead to get a table.

LE'S VIETNAMESE

Thuy Le spent 20 years cooking in the kitchens of her home country, Vietnam, before moving to Australia. Jobs in Horsham were scarce at the time, so Thuy decided to take matters into her own hands, opening Le's Vietnamese.

"There was Vietnamese food everywhere in Australia but none here in Horsham," she explained. "I thought to myself, okay, I will give people amazing, authentic food. Some people in town had never had Vietnamese food before and now they love it."

Le's Vietnamese started as a caravan food truck before locating permanently at 4 Clark Street. With a bigger kitchen and a large outdoor seating area, in just two years Le's has become a firm favourite with locals and travellers alike.

For a truly authentic experience, Le recommends the slow-cooked spicy beef pho, and on a hot summer's day, be sure to order a refreshing iced coffee.

NORTON ESTATE WINES

Norton Estate Wines is a true family business, run by the husband and wife team, Chris and Sam Spence. The pair took over the winery after Chris' parents—Wendy and Don—passed away. Speaking to Chris, his passion for the business and his parent's legacy shines through with every word.

"The first grapes — Shiraz — were planted back in 1997 as Mum and Dad looked to diversify the family farm," said Chris. "Now, there's Shiraz, Cabernet Sauvignon, and Sauvignon Blanc, and our wines have gone on to be highly awarded and received accolades, including James Halliday's pick of the year."

As well as adding more grape varieties, Chris and Sam have transformed the cellar door, turning it into a must-visit destination. With a fully restored 100-year-old barn, an expansive deck, and delicious wine tastings and cheese platters, it's the perfect place to while away a sunny afternoon.

"The vineyard is also very sustainable," said Chris. "It's powered by solar, and we avoid chemical fertilisers and fungicides. Our wines are also vegan friendly."

Norton Estate also offers live music and other events, so be sure to check before visiting. If you'd like a cheese platter, order ahead. And if you can, pick up a bottle of Chris's favourite wine, the Wendy's Block Shiraz, dedicated to his mum. There are only 300 bottles available every year. Luckily, if you miss out, there are plenty of other delicious wines to choose from.

WIMMERA SUPER MEAT MARKET

Wimmera Meat Market was founded by the late, Johannus van Dyk, in the early 1960's. He was a smallgoods manufacturer using recipes brought from his native Holland. Johannus was passionate about meat and meat products.

By the 1970's it was obvious that a retail outlet was needed to serve and cater for an expanding loyal retail customer base. The shop opened in Pynsent Street, Horsham in 1974.

At the time Wimmera Super Meat Market opened, it was one of the first self-service butchers to be established in Australia.

Today, they still operate with the same format but have relocated to a larger premises at 50 Firebrace Street, Horsham.

Johannus retired from the business in 1990 to make way for his sons John and Dominic to run the business but the philosophy remains the same.

From day one they've been committed and focused on quality and service, which you'll see in the outstanding meats and smallgoods on offer. Passion, Reputation, Excellence, Integrity and Innovation, that's the value system that surrounds this unique family enterprise.

INTERNATIONAL HOTEL BAA 3400 RESTAURANT

You know that the food must be something special when a restaurant outgrows its space within just a couple of years. That's what happened to the owner-operators of Baa 3400 restaurant, Nicole and Hugh Goldson.

Their unique dining experience proved so popular they moved premises and can now be found within the International Hotel.

"We call it social dining," said Nicole. "There are no set courses as everything is designed to share. The menu is an ever-changing selection of seasonal dishes using locally-sourced ingredients."

With a mouth-watering combination of sweet and savoury dishes such as confit duck leg, port pickled shallots, herb salad with mashed zucchini, and pumpkin ganache with almond and dark chocolate truffle, the only challenge with Baa 3400 is choosing what to have.

Luckily, there's a solution for that, too. "Simply say, 'Feed Me', and the chef will put together a menu for you," explains Nicole. "We change the menu so often to reflect what's in season, so never come here with your heart set on a particular dish!"

After all that incredible food, you'll need somewhere to lay your head. Book a room in the adjoining International Hotel. It's operated by Nicole's parents and brother, and offers 52 contemporary rooms for solo travellers, couples, and families.

KAILASH YOGA RETREAT

When ashram director David Wegman bought a parcel of land nestled deep in the Wartook Valley, he had no plans for it other than living there one day, and enjoying the world-class rock climbing.

But all that changed when he decided to book a meditation retreat in India. There, he met his now-wife, Rajni, and the dream of one day owning their own retreat and ashram was born. With nothing else like it anywhere in the region, the land in the Wartook Valley proved to be the perfect location.

“We are passionate practitioners of yoga and meditation,” said David. “And we wanted to put that into practice and create something which can help bring people closer to themselves and become more prosperous in their own lives. It’s about connecting to the soul.”

Whether you’re new to yoga and meditation and simply want to try it, or you practise regularly, Kailash has something for everyone. There are daily activities such as hatha yoga and Himalayan meditation, structured multi-day retreats, and personal guided stays.

Three vegetarian meals are served per day, and there is onsite accommodation in a unique mud-brick lodge. There are also other traditional activities such as fire ceremonies and sound meditations.

THE CAPITAL

If you're feeling hungry, or are craving a warm mug of hot chocolate in the afternoon, head to The Capital. It's open all day for food and drink.

The onsite dining operates as a cafe from 7am to 5pm, before transforming into a bistro in the evening. The evening bistro offers a choice of individual dishes, or there is a set price for two and three-course dining experiences.

"We also have a 'Grab & Go' window that's open until 5pm," said Shannon Couch, general manager. "You can order directly at the window, or order ahead using the Hey You app. We know that our customers want convenience, so we've developed this to answer that call."

The hotel is popular with a diverse audience, including business travellers during the week, and tourists visiting the Grampians or Silo Art Trail at the weekend. It's easy to see why: the rooms are recently refurbished, now boasting flat-screen TVs with Chromecast, plus there's the newly-built sun-filled deck. And, of course, you can't forget the convenient and tasty on-site food and drink options.
